Columbia, on the cut down the Shamrock's lead and passed other hand, was in beautiful position, and her to leeward. For nearly an hour Columbia and Shamrock both held the port tack, the wind being so light at times that they alternately fell off with the sea and then luffed. Shortly after 12 o'clock they were for a little time becalmed, but through it all the Columbia maintained the lead, which she had secured at the start. About half past twelve there were signs down the Jersey both skippers, evidently catching scent of board tack.

POSITIONS CHANGED. What wind there was had hauled around a little to the south of east and it looked as if there would be no more windward work if it held from that quarter. With the wind from that direction the two remaining legs would be reaches. Far out to sea there was a dark streak showing that there at least was some wind. In shore, toward the mouth of the harbor, a fine eightknot breeze was blowing, sending the small sailboats about at a lively rate. But up off the Long island shore, where the b'g racers were, there was no wind and they made but slow progress toward the first mark.

It was slow work for the next twenty minutes, but then the fickle wind, which had been blowing everywhere but on the yachts, caught them at last. Shamrock got it first and, with her canvas filled out, darted ahead and rapidly cut down the distance between her and Columbia. Captain Sycamore took every possible advantage of the favorable slant, and before it had reached Columbia he was on almost even terms. Fortune was with the British skipper, and holding tight to the air current which he had caught, he slowly worked into the windward berth and then took the lead. It was not much of an advantage, but for the first time since they had crossed the line the Britisher was ahead. It was just 1:15 when, beyond question of doubt, it was seen that the boats had changed the position they had held since the start. The fluky, shifting wind seemed always to favor Shamrock. Try as he would, the American skipper could not catch as favorable an air current, and | Thames embankment who were waiting for at 1:22 Shamrock had a good four lengths of open water between her stern and Co-lumbia's bow. In the meantime Shamrock had taken in her baby-jib topsail and the owing to the rain and the great disappointboats were rapidly nearing the first mark. Columbia ret her jib topsall, and a few moments later Shamrock followed suit. Both boats were now getting a good slant of wind and it seemed as if the Britisher was making the most of it, her sails drawing well, and apparently momentarily widening the gap between herself and her rival. The race had become a pretty struggle for the first mark, despite the lightness of the wind. The light and fitful wind now began to play pranks with the racers and Columbia,

Shamrock, 2:41:36; Columbia, 2:44:44. Always opitimistic, Sir Thomas Lipton to-day after the race was in the best of spirits. He said: "I really don't see anything yet on which to base a definite opinion regarding the two boats. While Shamrock was leading when the race was called off there's nothing to brag about. To-day, while the winds were very light. there was little fluking, therein differing with the third quarter in 28 seconds. Sumfrom last Thursday's breezes, which in maries: spots failed utterly, each in turn striking dead calms. After the showing made thus far by both boats I should not hesitate, if I were a betting man, to lay even money on Shamrock. Both boats were handled to-day to the best ability of the best men each country could produce, I don't think there's a better skipper in America than Capt. Charlie Barr, of the Columbia." Sir Thomas expressed himself as personally in favor of racing every day, provided any suggestion looking to that end

LEADING UNITED MINE WORKERS AT PARKERSBURG, W. VA.

Two Strikes in Scranton-Boston Strike Settled-Barbers' National Union-The Textile Workers.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 1,-The eading representatives of the United Mine Workers of America from all the coalmining States have been in session at the Van Winkle Hotel here for two days and left to-night with the secrets of their sessions well kept. The most vigilant work of the correspondents and members of the local press failed to get anything out of those who were in session. Nothing can be learned here by representatives of the operators or anyone else as to what matter was under consideration. The operators are inclined to believe that plans were discussed of special application to West Virginia, and, at the same time, that some movement was under way for application in all the mining districts.

It is said that President Mitchell could not be present on account of sickness, but even this could not be confirmed by any of those who were in attendance. It is GREAT generally believed here that plans were considered for the relief of the Thacker district, in West Virginia, where trouble between the miners and operators has exsted for some time.

Among the delegates present were "Mother Jones, of Chicago; F. C. Reinhardt, Pittsburg; John H. Walter, Danville, Ill. Thomas Burke, Springfield, Ill.; Chris Evans, Nelsonville, O.; G. W. Purcell, Terre Haute, Ind.; W. H. Crawford, Pleasant City, O.; John Hadden, Coburn, W. Va., and John Taylor, Keystone, W. Va. It is quite probable that the character of the proceedings will never become known until reported to the local unions from Incianapolis.

TO PREVENT TUBERCULOSIS. Opportunity That Lies Before the Country's Rich Men.

American Medicine. If every tuberculous rich man could be brought to realize the fact that his disease, in addition to being infectious was Hoboken on Saturday night, and will be preventable, that in all probability his infection may have come from some tuberculous poor person, and that the problem of preventing the infection in the future of his children and of others in closely connected with the case, treatment, and supervision of the tuberculous poor, a great stride will be made in securing the sinews of war for the battle against tuberculosis. The necessities of this war are mainly dependent upon a liberal supply of money for many purposes. Further original investigations are necessary, and for this purpose money must be spent in the endowment and support of institutions; the original investigators need money in order to live and provide for their families. The poor consumptive should be taken care of, so that he will no longer be a menace to the welfare of the community. To provide for the care of those who are no longer capable of supporting themselves, but who may yet live for years; to give employment to those who have arrested tuberculosis, but who remain infective and will do so for a long period; to return the so-called "cured" cases to usefulness and activity in life, although they may have a diminished earning power; to promote educational propaganda; to advance measures for public recognition and control of the disease, are all measures that should appeal with the utmost force to men of great wealth, broad culture and high purposes-especially if the wealthy man has in himself or some loved member of his turf it is said here to-day that Mr. Croker will leave English racing alone after the present season.
